

Inhalt

---

Erik Levi
Introduction . . . . .	7
Albrecht Dümling
What is Internal Exile in Music? The cases of Walter Braunfels, Heinz Tiessen, Eduard Erdmann and Philipp Jarnach . . . . .	9
Lily E. Hirsch
Defining ‘Jewish Music’ in Nazi Germany. Handel and the Berlin Jewish Culture League . . . . .	27
Joshua S. Walden
‘Olden Melodies Return’. Memory in Joseph Achron’s Hebrew Melody . . . . .	45
Ben Winters
Swearing an Oath. Korngold, Film and the Sound of Resistance? . . . . .	61
Magnar Breivik
From Surabaya to Ellis Island. On two versions of Kurt Weill’s ‘Surabaya-Johnny’ . . . . .	77
James Parsons
Hanns Eisler’s Hollywooder Liederbuch and ‘the new stuff of life’ . . . . .	91
Juliane Brand
Karl Weigl’s Final Years, 1938–1949. A Story of Perseverance . . . . .	113
Kristof Boucquet
The transformation of Viktor Ullmann’s compositional language . . . . .	139
Katarzyna Naliwajek-Mazurek
Nazi censorship in Music, Warsaw 1941 . . . . .	153

Erik Levi and Melina Gehring Paul Hirsch and Alfred Einstein. The trials and tribulations of artistic collaboration in exile . . . . .	177
Suzanne Snizek The Abyss and the Berries. . . . .	197
Malcolm Miller Music as Memory. Émigré composers in Britain and their wartime experiences. . . . .	223
Florian Scheduling 'Problematic Tendencies'. Émigré Composers in London, 1933–1945 . . . . .	247
Francisco Parralejo Masa Nazism, Anti-Semitism in the Second Republic Spain (1931–1936) . . . . .	273
Gemma Pérez Zalduondo The Musical Policies of the Third Reich in relation to the First years of Francoism (1938–1943) . . . . .	289
Eva Moreda-Rodríguez Hispanic-German Music Festivals during the Second World War. . . . .	309
Emile Wennekes 'Some of the Jewish musicians are back at their desks'. A case study in the remigration of European musicians after World War II . . . . .	323
The Contributors . . . . .	337
Index . . . . .	343